THEFTS.
Recent remarkable cases of the Stealing of Kleptomaniacs would be tedious if they were not sad. The following cases have been taken among those must recently reported by the highest medical authorities.

A rich but eccentric gentleman, almost a millionaire, but not in the least appearance, lived in an old manor-house, in Lincolnshire, England. His neighbors were all kindly disposed towards him, and he was thoroughly disposed towards the poor. Even the servants who saw him every day, although they confessed that he was "certainly very peculiar at times," never once dreamed of impugning his intellect. He was a good business man and managed his estate with care and prudence, auditing his steward's yearly account with the skill of an expert. He was in one direction only—and one might have passed a lifetime with him without discovering it.

He would be seized by a sudden determination to travel, and on such occasions he would travel in state with a retinue of servants. After a fortnight's or perhaps a month's absence he would return home.
Invariably on the morning of the next day after his return, towels, which had been taken from an open portmanteau, were found scattered about the room. After breakfast his custom was to retire to the library, and write the addresses of all the hotel-keepers at whose house he had slept during his absence on so many slips of writing paper. These he handed over to his secretary, who in turn gave them to the house-steward, with directions to enclose to each address the number of towels specified upon each piece of paper, and to copy such other writing as he might find there, and send it in a letter with the towels to the hotel-keepers.

This gentleman was one of the unhappy race of kleps, whose particular mania impelled him to pilfer his own. He subsequently gave to a friend the history of his case, and said he was guided to these journeys and pilferings by an irresistible impulse, which he insisted was the result of demolition, however, a second time the same journey, so that, whilst no hotel-keeper would be likely to suspect, during his visit, a gentleman of his rank and style as one who would steal his towels, it never transpired publicly, so far as is known, that he was a thief, although his own consciousness of the fact embittered his existence.

Another interesting example of kleptomania is recorded of a very respectable Scottish clergyman, in the prime of life, and otherwise distinguished for his learning, piety and charity. He stole Bibles with a special view to the glory of God by the propagation of the gospel. His mania was a little "missionary of stolen Bibles," and he was much in earnest in the conversion of souls by the contraband process as the most enthusiastic foreign missionary could be in his calling.

He was at last detected in wholesale Bible stealing. It was further discovered that he had organized a wide missionary district, and left a Bible or a Testament at every cottage where it was needed along the route. The most touching fact in the story is that he was arrested while on his knees, by the bedside of a dying old man, with a stolen Bible lying wide open before him on the bed.

"What made you steal the Bibles, Mr.
B?" asked the sheriff, with pious horror in his face.

"(God made me steal them, good man," he replied. "He was weary of seeing His poor people perish of gospel-hunger, because the rich Bible Society could not afford to feed them without the bibles, and so God set me to steal for them and save them."

He could not be persuaded that he had done wrong. The delusion of the clergyman, who was a very poor man, naturally suggested insanity. But he was perfectly sane upon all other points, and it is doubtful whether he would have received the benefit of his malady—whether, indeed, it would have been admitted as a malady at all—if a learned and philosophical physician in a neighboring town had not positively sworn that he was the "victim of moral mania."

Another case reported is that of a lady who could not resist the stealing of silk stockings. She was rich, and a leader in the fashionable circles of London. There was no sign of a depraved intellect, and apart from this one vice, she was exceedingly conscientious. It was no secret in her family, and her oldest son—she being a widow—always went himself to the store where she had made her last purchases, to find out whether they had misused any stockings after her departure. As it nearly always happened that they had, he paid for them, and so the matter was hushed up.

Another London lady used to steal gloves. She frequented all the heads of the establishments where she traded with her disease, and requested that she might be watched, and a bill of her delinquencies made out, and sent after her to her house.
This was done for nearly two years, when she got rid of the mania, as is claimed, by a course of gymnastic treatment, a prescribed diet and rigorous exercises. She had always paid the bills presented by the tradesmen in person, and without a mistake.

WHAT A BOY CAN DO
About two hundred and sixty years ago, a poor lad of seventeen was seen, traveling on foot in the south of England. He carried over his shoulder, at the end of a stick, all the clothing he had in the world, and had in his pocket an old leather purse, with a few pieces of money, given him by his mother when, with a trembling, praying heart, she took her leave of him on the road, a short distance from their own cottage.

And who was John? for that was his name. He was the son of poor, but honest and pious people; and had six brothers and five sisters, all of whom had to labor hard for a living. He was an honest lad, and at fourteen was disappointed in getting a place as parish clerk, and with his parent's consent set out to get employment.

At the city of Exeter, where he first went, he met with no success; but as he looked on the beautiful cathedral, and in the book-seller's windows, a strong desire sprang up in his mind to become a scholar; and at once he set out for the University at Oxford, some two hundred miles off, walking the whole way. At night, sometimes he slept in barns, or on the sheltered side of a hay-stack, and often met with strange companions. He lived chiefly on bread and water, with occasionally a draught of milk as a luxury.

Arrived in the splendid city of Oxford, his clothing nearly worn out and very dirty, his feet sore, and his spirits depressed, he knew not what to do. He had heard of Exeter College in Oxford, and thither he went; and to his great delight, was engaged to carry coal into the kitchen, to clean pans and kettles, and that kind of work.

Here, while scouring his pans, he might be often seen reading a book. His studious habits soon attracted the attention of the authorities, who very kindly admitted him into the college as a poor scholar, providing for all his wants.

He studied hard, and was soon at the head of his class. He rose to great eminence as a scholar, was very useful as a minister of Christ; and many years before his death, which took place when he was seventy-two, he visited his father and mother, who were delighted to see their son not only a "great scholar," but an eminent bishop.

Such was the history of Dr. John Pri-deaux, who used to say, "If I had been parish clerk of Ugborough, I should never have been Bishop of Worcester. He left many voluminous works of his industry and learning.—Young Pilgrim.

TRIED BY BEARS.
The Detroit Free Press gives the following account of how the hunter became the hunted:

A man named Chas. Tyrell was hunting on the St. Clair river when two bears appeared. Somewhat excited he leveled his rifle and fired, and the next moment both bears were coming down upon him at full speed. The hunter saw that they meant business, each uttering fierce growls, and he dropped his gun, caught hold of the limb of a small oak tree, and swung his legs up just in time to save his boots. As he expected, one of them was not long in attempting to secure a close acquaintance.
The animal got up about seven feet, and then the limb refused to let him by. He pawed, bit and growled at a great rate, and in making a big effort to push away the limbs, fell to the ground. Tyrell commenced shouting, which excited the bears, and one of them was quickly up to the limbs again, when the hunter struck a match and dropped it down on bruin's head, frightening him so that he went down the tree at a lively rate. The hunter had about a dozen matches with him, and every time the bears started to climb he would light one and let it fall, the trick never failing to stop their ascent. After a time both seemed to go away, and the hunter carefully commenced to descend. He was just about to touch the ground when both the bears came charging at him out of the darkness, and he had to go up again, one of his boots being raked by claws before he was above the limbs. The animals made no further efforts to climb the tree, but "lure around" for a full hour at its base.
Tyrell dared not descend for fear that they had laid a snare for him, and passed the entire night astride of a limb. In the morning he found the bear that he had fired at dead at the foot of the tree, but the other had disappeared, and the hunter got safely off with the spoil.

South Carolina—The Kuklux Trials.
COLUMBIA, December 27.—In the United States Court to-day Mr. Stanberry moved for a new trial in the case of Mitchell, on the ground that the kuklux conspiracy culminated March 6th, 1871, and was sought to be punished under a law enacted April 20th, 1871. He also moved for the arrest of judgment on the ground of the unconstitutionality of the kuklux acts.

The cases of Brown and Miller were taken up, and Brown pleaded guilty.

COLUMBIA, December 28.—In the United States Court this morning John S.

Miller was found guilty. Judge Bond announced the decision overruling Mr. Stan-berry's motions for a new trial and arrest of judgment in Mitchell's case.

All the defendants were convicted. Of John W. Mitchell, five years' imprisonment and $1,000 fine; Shepard Childers, William Montgomery, Brans Murphy, Harold Mitchell, R. H. Mitchell, Sylvanus Shawyer, Hugh Shearer, William Shearer, and James B. Shearer, each eighteen months' imprisonment and $100 fine; Dr.
Thomas H. Whitcomb, one year and $100 fine; John B. Mills, three months and $20 fine.

EXTRAVAGANCE IN DRESS.
The fact that the Queen of Belgium has recently been announced in a court of law by a Brussels mediator for 67,000 francs (13,400); the alleged value of certain articles of dress supplied to Her Majesty, which sum the latter refuses to pay, on the ground of its being an exorbitant demand, moves the Philadelphia Ledger to say:

The changes in the fashions, which one hears talked of so incessantly, and for which thousands of people are compelled to pay extravagant sums, there being no appeal from the absurd tyranny, are originated in these modistes not by any means as improvements on previous fashions, nor because they are more becoming, but because they provide an excuse for spending money and wasting time on the part of those who have no worthier occupation than to "study the fashion." Thus, no sooner has one style come into vogue, than it is mysteriously whispered that certain things are worn a little longer, or shorter, or fallor, or higher, or lower, or a lighter color, or of a darker, or they are worn square instead of round, or round instead of square, or braided, or flounced, or with tucks, or plain, or gored, or with a train, or without one, or with high heels, or no heels or feathers instead of flowers, or with enormous paniers, on which any one could sit while the wearer is walking along the street —in short there is no end to the absurdities which are daily perpetrated under the name of "fashion," yet this tyranny appears to be more firmly established than any kingdom or republic. No one seems to have the courage to resist it, on this side of the Atlantic at least; on the other, however, the Crown Princess of Prussia, the oldest daughter of Queen Victoria, following the excellent example of her mother, who has never yielded to the demands of fashion, has inaugurated a league of ladies whose purpose is "to cultivate plainness and modesty of dress, with good taste, befitting materials, but no extravagance nor meretricious display." The idea was also taken up by a band of ladies at the late Social Sciences meeting in England, who agreed that the true way to rescue Society from the outrageous inventions and the rational expenditure which characterize the dress of the day, is to revolutionize the ideas and styles of the boudoir and the salons, and introduce modesty and economy among themselves, and they seriously invite all good and honorable women to join them in this crusade against fashionable dress-makers. It is to be fervently hoped that all "good and honorable" women will respond to the call and set an example which the vain and frivolous will feel themselves constrained to follow.

It is high time that the tyranny of fashion, as ugly as it is contemptible, should cease, and that American wives, sisters and daughters should refuse to live any longer under the perpetual changing orders of impudent women who teach them to lay themselves out to advertise and al-lure, rather than to please and adorn.

THE SIAMSE TWINS.
These twins, Eng and Chang, who are now living in the Western portion of this State, and one of whom is lying dangerously ill at the present time, were born in a small village on the coast of Siam in the year 1811. We are in possession of some particulars concerning them which may be of interest to our readers.

Their parents got their living by fishing.
And until 1829, when Eng and Chang were brought to the United States, they made their living by selling shell fish.

Their mother bore seventeen children. At one time she gave birth to three, and never less than two. But none of these children were deformed.

HOW THEY ARE UNITED, &c.
They are united at the anterior part of the chest by a prolongation of a kind of fleshy band, the size of the hand. This band of flesh is about two inches broad and four inches thick. The whole mass is tough and capable of being considerably extended. While you may whisper in the ear of one without the other hearing; while volatile salts applied to the nostrils of one has no effect on the other; and while pinching the arm of one excites no sensation in the other; still if you but stick a pin in the exact vertical centre of this connecting link, both will finish from the hurt. These twins are seldom observed to converse with each other. They play a good game of draughts, make pretty much the same moves, and at the same time, and frequently play against each other. They are both married and have grown children.

—Raleigh Carolinian.

NEGRO INSURRECTION.
Quite an alarming insurrection has broken out in Chicot county, Arkansas. It originated in a dispute between a negro, named Wynn, and an old white citizen of the county named Saunders. The negro called Saunders a liar and struck him.— They attacked and while Wynn was attempting to draw a revolver, Saunders snatched a knife off the counter and stabbed and killed him. Saunders, with two other white men were arrested and put in jail.
But word was sent throughout the surrounding country to come up armed; and when the mob was from 300 to 500 strong, they demanded of the Sheriff the keys to the jail—took out the prisoners and shot and bayoneted them. The negroes have continued to assemble, and now defy the State and Federal authority, and say they intend to drive the whites out of the country. The terror of the people is complete, and all who can are fleeing from their homes, leaving everything behind, some of them not carrying off even a change of clothing. No relief has yet gone to them, and delay may be the means of much bloodshed.

P. S. The negroes have disarmed and there are no indications of retaliation by the whites.

A REMARKABLE GOOSE.
Thomas W. Sydnor, near Dover, owns one of the most remarkable geese in America—bearing a prominent local political, statesman and editor. She was owned nearly thirty five years ago by Thomas White, in Henrico county, Va. He presented her in 1840 to Mrs. Edward Sydnor, and she in 1869 transferred the bird to Thomas W. Sydnor. He brought her to this State in the fall of '69. The goose was very old when this series of presentations began, and is now supposed to be over seventy years of age. She raised a full flock of geese last season. She has a full set of feathers; her voice is strong and clear, and she can fly a mile without blinking. Take it altogether, she is certainly a remarkable emblem of U-lyssianic statesmanship.—Lee, (Mo) Cavalier.

THE LATEST FROM LOWERY.—We are informed by a gentleman from Robeson that Henry Barry Lowery, Governor of South Carolina and its tributaries, went to the house of Capt. Baker, in the vicinity of Red Banks, a few days since, and very po-litenly informed him that the object of his visit was to get some meat. Mrs. Baker, without a moment's hesitation, which the family knew would be useless, handed the bold outlaw the keys to her smoke house and told him to help himself. He therefore appropriated three large pieces of meat and took his leave. Lowery, in the course of his visit, informed Mr. Baker that he had quit stealing provisions &c., and would hereafter levy contributions in the day time, consequently if any person's property was molested in the night time the victims might rely upon it, that he nor any of his party had anything to do with it. Lowery says furthermore that hereafter, he shall molest nobody, in the way of personal violence, unless he is first interfered with by them.—Wil. Star.

IMPORTANT TO THE HOLDERS OF MUTILATED CURRENCY.—On and after the 1st proximo defaced or mutilated United States notes and fractional currency instead of being redeemable as now, only by the United States Treasurer, subject to discount for mutilation, will be redeemed at their full face value in new notes or currency by the Treasurer, several assistant treasurers and designated depositaries of the United States, and all national bank depositaries, and will be received at their full face value by all officers of the Treasury Department in payment of currency dues to the United States, provided that three-fifths of the original proportion of the notes are presented in one piece.— Fragments less than five-eighths will be redeemed only by the Treasurer of the United States. If more than one-half and less than five-eighths is presented, half of the face value will be paid. Less than half a note will be redeemed only on affidavit that the missing portion has been totally destroyed.
Under the new rules any person, firm, bank, corporation, or public officer will be permitted to forward five dollars and upwards in fractional currency, and fifty dollars and upwards in legal tender notes for redemption to the Treasurer, by express, at the expense of the department, under the government contract with Adams Express Company.

THE YEAR 1872.—This year contains fifty-two Sundays. September and December each begins on Sunday. January, April and July, on Monday. October is the only month beginning on Tuesday.
February begins and ends on Thursday.
Consequently we have five Thursdays, which will not occur again until the year 1900. In the year 1780, February will have five Sundays, which will not occur again until the year 1920. The year 1871 began on Sunday and will end on Sunday.
This will occur again in 1782, and every eleventh year thereafter.

Many persons were injured in the Norristown, Penn., Railroad accident.

■ The Statesville American says: "We learn that in Wilkes county, recently, while two men were guarding a third, who was crazy, the guard lay down to sleep. One of them was soon awakened by the flames that enveloped the room, to discover that his companion had been killed with a speedy grasping up of the body. He proposed to get a loaf of baker's bread, put some quicksilver into one end, and seriously asserted that on being thrown into the water it would float to a point directly over the body, and then stand still. He was hoisted at, and told to go about his junk buying, not a man believing in the old woman's whim, as they termed it.—Bepito went away, but returned in a little while, threw a loaf of bread into the water near where the man went off the dock, and in a moment called the attention of the men below to the fact that the loaf was spinning around like a top. It went partly under the wharf, stood still for a moment, and then went half a block down stream, turning right and left and, as vouched for by his friends, came back to the wharf.

RICHMOND, VA.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

The Junior Editor will probably resume his post in this Office next week, to the admiration of all concerned.

Here's a bumper to the New-Year that had its advent in tears of the heavens and a sigh and a tear for 1871. But we're not going to bore our readers with a homily on the new or old Year. We simply mean to express a wish for the happiness of every body and the rest of mankind the current year, and to remark:

The Senior has been associated with this paper two years, during which time he has had encouragements and discouragements—but much more of the latter than the former. To say that we have reaped the encouragement we expected from this town and County, would be saying that which is not so. Nevertheless it would be ungrateful if we did not return our thanks to a large number of the good people of Orange for the lively interest they have manifested in sustaining a live newspaper in Hillsboro'. We sincerely thank all such. The indications of appreciation from men of intelligence and enterprise, have buoyed us up and encouraged us onward. But we have to complain that for every dozen subscribers in this County there are two dozen who read the paper weekly without subscribing for it, and evince no disposition to encourage the enterprise. We especially thank the few business men of this town who have generously patronized us in more ways than one. May their shadows never grow less.

The First Man

To pay his subscription to the Recorder, for the New Year, 1873, was Judge Geo. Laws, the model Superior Court Clerk of Orange, who is no less prompt in paying the Printer than he is in the discharge of every duty appertaining to his Office.—May he live a thousand years—if he wants to.

It becomes necessary for us to reduce our business to the cash system; consequently no more subscribers will be taken on the credit principle. Those who have paid up to January 1873, and whose term of subscription expired with 1871, will please accept our thanks for their patronage and call and renew their subscription for the current year. If any such prefer to stop their patronage we hope they will do so at once, as we wish to know what calculations to make for running this paper in the future. Those who are owing us for 1 or more years must not think hard of us if we stop the paper at their address and proceed to collect by law; we cannot give them longer indulgence. If you want this paper pay for it in advance; if you don't want it don't steal it or borrow it and read it at another person's expense.

There are not less than a round thousand men in Orange who regularly borrow the Recorder and read it. Why do they not subscribe for the paper like gentlemen and clever fellows? If the paper is not all they would have it to be, they ought to encourage it from County pride, if for nothing else; at any rate they ought to blush for shame when they read it at another's expense. Horrible as we look upon sheep stealing, we had almost as soon be caught collaring a neighbor's favorite yew as making a practice of borrowing a paper that we ought to encourage by our patronage and which we are able to pay for as we would be to spend ten times the amount annually in whisky! No offence is intended for any particular borrower, but, my close-fisted, skin-flint, small potato friend, if the cap fits you must wear it. This borrowing business has become a crying evil of which many our subscribers complain. They say that they seldom get a chance to read the paper in consequence of borrowers who are as able to pay for the paper as they are.

Christmas Presents worth Acknowledging.

On Saturday before Christmas we received a large box by Express from Danville, Va., and on opening found it filled with all manner of beautiful toys for children and the most delicious fruit and sponge cake, candy, mince-meat, brandy-peaches, &c. It was a present from IRE RAINES, the illustrious commander-in-chief of Old Santa Claus; and we assure him that the little folks and the big ones too enjoyed the rich contents of that Christmas box. How pleasant—when forgotten and snubbed at home—to find yourself kindly remembered by friends abroad! And as one good turn deserves another, we expect to show friend RAINES that we appreciate his generous kindness, by an occasional reference to his magnificent Confectionery, Toy and Fancy-article emporium, as the Headquarters of Old Kris Kringle, which towers like a giant over a pigmy above all catch-penny rivals that pop up their heads in country-towns and vend flour for candy and antiquated rubbish for toys to amuse children. RAINES keeps nothing common in his establishment. His candies are fresh and the finest in the world—unmixed with flour and poisons—and here too can be found in profusion all the choice fruits of creation; and the nicest cakes that ever adorned a wedding table. When you visit Danville go and see IRE RAINES.

We also beg to return thanks to an unknown "Friend" in Hillsboro' for the present of a fine varnished ham as a Christmas present. We never stuck a tooth in a better article of ham; it was magnificent.

bonum, and came from Thos. D. Tinnin's who has more of the same sort, just received from Geo. I. Herring & Co., of Richmond, Va. We suspect the donor—his heart is as big as his head and every pulsation gushes out a generous deed. Who in this town but that finished gentleman, Dr. G—n, would have tendered the printer such a Christmas treat!

We also tender thanks to our young friend Thos. McCully, of Danville, Va. for a bottle of 'Log Cabin Whisky' sent us by the hands of Mr. Edgar Adams. Of course it's a good article, for McCully keeps not only the prettiest "Saloon" South but the finest Liquors—a common article can't enter his door. And we likewise received by Express on Christmas a bottle of "Old Dominion Rye Whisky," from the house of McCully & Barnard, Danville, for which we return thanks. The Express freight on this package rather got us, though the liquor was all right and our Foreman really enjoyed it—we being a moderate sampler only, and still in the notion of joining one of brother Ramsey's temperance societies.

Judge Tourgee on the Ku Klux.

The Judge seems to be waking up the Ku Klux in Alamance, Orange and Guilford. We have no complaint to make if he arrests the guilty only and makes the arrests according to law and upon reputable evidence. But it is represented to us that he intimidates and bribes confessions. If this be true he deserves to be kicked off the Bench. He has no right to arrest men and frighten them into confession—Establish such proceedings and Judge Tourgee can in 24 hours get sufficient evidence to hang himself as high as Haman, (if he desires it), as the murderer of Outlaw and Stephens too. Aye, and can be convicted of Barn-burning! By the way, why isn't that the hell-hounds of justice are not heard yelping on the tracks of Barn-burners? And why are they not heard barking on the track of Leagues, guilty of whipping and murdering colored and white men simply because they did not vote to please the League? Let us hear of the same industry displayed by the Judge to hound down Ku Klux to catch and punish League murderers and incendiaries. We protest against the "fun" being a one-sided game. Sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander—and that's what's the matter with the disturbed peace of the County.

We dare say the Judge hears daily a full bushel of the basest and most infamous lies. For example, at Alamance court he sent to Orange and had five men arrested to be taken before him, and somehow or somehow, they gave the Officer the slip—one at a time—and the report reached the Judge that a party of disguised men took them from the Officer! And thereupon the Judge got mad and swore vengeance against Orange. But let there wasn't a grain of truth in the story, any further than the prisoners—spending a night's lodgment in jail before them and wishing to avoid it—got a chance to get away from the Officer (a radical, so-called,) and gave him the dodge.

The Grand Jury of Alamance found bills of indictment against 100 men for outrages in that county. True bills have been found against James Bradshaw, M. Thompson, Jesse Thompson, Michael Jeer, George Mebane, Henry Robinson, George Rogers, John S. Dixon, Walter Johnson, Van Buren Nott, Thomas Tate, David Johnson, Curry Johnson and James Johnson for the murder of Wyatt Outlaw. Jas. Bradshaw and Michael Thompson tied the rope round Outlaw's neck.

In view of the fact that League outrages go unwhipped of justice and Ku Klux outrages have pretty well ceased and would never have happened had the Courts punished Barn-burners, Ravishers, &c., as they deserved, it would not be a bad idea for the Legislature to pass an Amnesty Bill pardoning the past and requiring good behavior in the future.

HARMONY.

The Installation of the Officers of Eagle Lodge, No. 71, took place at the Masonic Hall on Wednesday night Dec. 27th. The following are the Officers for the ensuing year:

J. R. Strayhorn, W. M.
C. C. Taylor, Senior Warden.
J. G. Cooley, Junior Warden, Jesse Hedgepeth, Treasurer,
J. L. Finch, Secretary,
Thos. Webb, Senior Deacon,
T. C. Hays, Junior Deacon,
R. F. Pleasant, Tiler.

A gentleman of this town who visited Greensboro' a few days ago, speaks in high praise of the Callum Drug Store, and the cleverness of the "old man" Callum. He says they have a tremendous Stock and a beautiful Store. The "old man" Callum excels in pharmacy.

Reduced Freight.

We heard one of our merchants congratulating himself a day or two ago on the reduced tariff on freight going into operation on the N. C. Road 1st of Jan. He said $150 worth of goods bought in Richmond last December, cost him $12 freight under the old tariff, and under the new it will cost only about half the sum. Hurra for President BUREAU!

We understand that Mr. Atwater one of our Legislators, killed a catamount in this County last week.

The "John Coonors" made their appearance here Christmas, and attracted some attention.

Rumor says Judge Tourgee is to be here in a few days—what for? Let him come—we don't "keer" a continental.

RALEIGH.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The New Year's dinner went off successfully. Plenty to eat. And many a little shrivelled up stomach stood out like an old field gourd. The originator of this dinner was Dr. Blackhall of the Yarbrough. We know it because one day when going out of his hotel to the Chronicle office he beckoned to us and suggested the idea at the same time, handing us his manuscript. We put it in shape and did it up. Credit to whom credit is due. Near one thousand poor children got their bellies full for the first time in many years and on the first day of 1873. A good omen.

But a better omen than that is that our friends Pseud, Lee & Co., the best Druggists in the South, paid us five dollars for a renewal of their advertisement in the Hillsboro Recorder, and it was the first time that we wrote 1873!

There was no quorum in either house to-day, Tuesday. Col. Withers of the House and Col. Brown of the Senate were both in their seats, but Taylor of the House was absent—these being the members from Caswell, Jordan, the Senator, and Barnett, the Representative, from Person county were both absent. We have nothing to say about the tardiness of these public servants; only that if in the old times of slavery a private servant had done so, he would have been coming to his work, his coat would have to come off.

They are talking about impeaching Judge Logan, and the resolution to do it is now in the bellies of several Senators. We know nothing of Judge Logan. He may be a hard case like several other Judges we wot of and who ought to be impeached as much so as Judge Logan. Our impression is that the best thing these Honorable Senators can do is to adjourn and go home. By so doing they will save the State as much money as the cost of impeachment will come to. But if they are determined to impeach Judges this time, don't let them stop at Logan but even go to the T in the alphabet "if it takes them all the summer."

The State Printing.

If the Legislature chooses to give us the State Printing we will take it at a fair price by the quad. em and do the work equal to Boston style. There shall be no "botch" work palmed off on the State, and no wrong measurement, by the letter m or "lineal measurement." (And just here we want the Legislature to tell us what it means by "lineal measurement" no printer can tell. It is something new under the sun to us. We reckon it means measuring corn or spirits.) We have done a heap of hard work to build up the waste places in North Carolina—make big men out of small materials—and in the days of yore led men to the polls, when parties and Country were worth battling for. But alas those parties and that Country perished by the war, and here we are, at sea, without rudder or compass, trying to keep the radicals from running the Ship of State into the whirlpool of Socialism. But we started to say that while we have worked hard for the State from 1835 up, not a crumb from the public table has been offered us. Perhaps we are to blame for not asking for a bone or something of the sort. Phenologists tell us that we are too modest and lack "brass!"

But please! we now remember that we are "banned" by virtue of having been a 3 cent Postmaster. The Junior Editor, however, can take the contract and the Senior can help to do the Printing.—Whether he can be "elected"—should be a candidate—is the question. He entered the war as a private at the first bounding of the ball and came out of it at Appomattox C. H., after the surrender. He lost his last red cent on the 'lost cause' and received nothing in return but a Minnie ball put through his neck. His service on the field of battle may make against his election, especially if it be made known that he served his Country throughout the war with Exemption papers in his pocket which his patriotism declined. Had he skulked or kept out of the war, as he might have done, probably he would now stand a better chance to be elected Public Printer.—Will he enter the field as a candidate?—The Senior cannot say—he can do so or decline. If he consents to run and gets defeated he can bear it now fully as well as he bore it at Appomattox.

Perhaps it is proper to remark here that the Junior is in Raleigh and knows nothing about this article. His being a candidate is a suggestion of our own—seeing that we (the Senior) are banned by the foolishness and tyranny of Congress. We know the Legislature would delight in electing us if we were not banned, because we didn't shoot a gun during the war.—We however did some tall yelling when our boys cleaned out the enemy.

We invite attention to the card of Dr. D. A. Robertson, resident Surgeon Dentist, and one of the best in the United States. He has removed his Office to the large Brick building belonging to Dr. Berry, in which Mr. C. M. Parks keeps his store. All who need the services of a scientific Dentist would do well to call on Dr. R.

Our Foreman, whose services are badly needed in the office, has been scouring the Country all the week hunting money that ought not to put us to the trouble and expense of running after.

P. S.—Our collector has returned. Out two days and brought in a "water haul!" Truly encouraging.

Among the Christmas sports of the holidays in this section were shooting matches for Turkeys and Whiskey.

The Dead Men of Hillsboro'. Mr. Editor: Far be it from me, to disturb the ashes of the buried dead, but I wish to say a few words about the living dead men of this old place. There are a number of such in and around the old town.

The readers of the Recorder may not know that there are dead men walking around, so I will describe some of them so that when they meet they may recognize them.

First come the Croakers, who cannot, or will not encourage any enterprise, but croak at every thing started in the place, reminding one of an old English Abbey left in possession of a lot of Ravens.

Next are those who are like terrapins drawn up in a shell of selfishness and who never come out of the shell unless driven out by a coal of fire applied to their backs, as the boys do to make a terrapin show signs of vitality.

Then there are some so dead that they won't even spend their money at home, but send it out to be distributed every where else, whose sugar coffee and even flour have to be ordered, whose clothes cannot be made to fit, unless made somewhere else, who can see nothing at home enjoyable—who can patronize nothing at home, and who would not stay at home themselves if it were not for the economy of doing so.

Another class of dead men are the lazy ones of the town, who would soon be buried dead men if it required any exertion to breathe; fortunate it is for them that their lungs will breathe themselves.

All these are dead men, Mr. Editor, and will destroy the prosperity of any place. My object is to try to resuscitate some of them, to get interested in Hillsboro and its surroundings; to influence them to take hold of the wheels and try to shove the old town out of the bottom of adversity and land it safely on the hill of prosperity.

Some day I shall write to you again for I wish to tell you something about the ladies of Hillsboro. A happy new year. Jan. 2 1873. VIATOR.

Attention Postmaster!

On the 21st day of December last, we mailed a package to Capt. J. F. Allison, Morrisville, N. C., and paid the postage on it. Morrisville is a Depot on the N. C. R. R. and strange to say said package has not arrived there to this day. And on the 27th ult. we mailed a letter to the Captain concerning his bills, which he did not get until the 3rd of Jan.—1873! Now, we would like to know what has become of that missing package, and what delayed our letter of the 27th. Can the Mail Route Agents on the N. C. R. R. furnish us any information? Why should that package get lost in going a few miles, and why should it take a whole week for a letter to go from Hillsboro to Morrisville? There is a screw loose somewhere—awfully loose—and we would like to detect it.

THE RICHMOND WHIG.

We will publish the prospectus of this old and excellent journal next week. The Whig is an able paper, and we recommend it to the public. In fact Richmond is full of herable papers, for the "Whig," "Dispatch" and "Examiner" are among the ablest and best papers in the U. States.

Our highly esteemed friend, J. D. Wilson Esq., has sold out his entire stock of Goods to his son, W. E. Wilson, and will act as Agent for the Franklin Fire Insurance Company and also Agent for Life Insurance Companies. See his advertisement and if you are wise, get him to insure your property and Life.

Ellis of Cedar Grove, has secured a Clerk answering his requirements. We have a mind to walk to Cedar Grove just to look at him.

KILLED.

Samuel Hargis, of Person, departed this life on Tuesday the 26th ult., by inhaling too freely of Whiskey. He was found dead in the corner of a fence.

Attention is called to the adv. of Hampton & Revis concerning lost horses. These horses were traced to Alamance county.

Change of Schedule.

A slight change in the time of arrival and departure of the cars on the N. C. Rail Road has taken place. The mail train going East now gets here at 10-23 P. M. Train going West arrives 10-30. P. M. We will publish the Schedule next week.

We had concluded not to issue a paper this week but to devote it entirely to trying to collect, but changed our notion—too late we fear to get the paper ready for the Milton and Roxboro' mails to-night.

We have not yet received that annual Statement of the financial condition of the county which the Law says the county Commissioners shall publish every year. They swear to obey the Law—why is the publication disregarded?

SONG.

HAVING too many Goods, and needing no more, I have determined to offer nearly my entire Stock

AT COST.

Upon the morning of 1st January 1873, with this sign out in front.

"SELLING OFF AT COST."

Some Merchants last year called me "green," But yet I was not "boss'd," You see I run my own machine. And soon sold out at cost.

FOR TOBACCO PLANT BEDS.

GILHAM'S TOBACCO FERTILIZER, MANUFACTURED BY THE Southern Fertilizing Company, RICHMOND, VA.

COL. WM. GILHAM, President & Chemist.

THE special merits of this standard fertilizer have been so fully demonstrated as an application to PLANT BEDS that the Company now offer it in that connection, as well as for the general crop. The reports of our customers, extending from Carrolline county, Va., to Guilford county, N. C., state that it excels Peruvian Guano in the following points:

1. The plants are more forward.
 2. They have better body and roots.
 3. They are not so liable to attacks of the fly.
 4. A good stand is more certain.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has any thing won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the rooms of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has been kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this medicine for them. Although settled Consumption is thoughtfully curable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorder of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they submit and disappear. Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it. Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it. Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses. So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chills, Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the various forms of Ague arising from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons. As its name implies, it does cure, and does not kill. Containing neither arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is a new and healthy preparation. The number and importance of the cases in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our price is gratifyingly low, and acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed. Unaccompanied persons, either resident in, or travelling through malarious localities, will be protected by taking the AYER'S AGUE CURE daily. For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity. For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, promoting many true remarkable cures, where other medicines fail. Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world. PRICE, $1.00 PER BOTTLE.
